From email on 2/20/2020: "I found some localized instabilities, including some wind whales on the ridge north of Bradley’s... The slide in the photo probably happened naturally this late morning, with a trigger of sun-heated snow from the cliffs above (just west of Texas Hill). It ran approximately 100 meters."

Photo: T. Allen

Advisory Region
Bridger Range

Longitude
-110.93W
Latitude
45.84N
Avalanche Details: Skier triggered thin slab in Bridgers
Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Fri Feb 21, 2020
Bridger Range, 2020-02-21