

more recent avalanches in Cooke

Date

Sun, 05/12/2024 - 17:50

Activity

Skiing

Snowmobiling

Saw a few slides that look like they propagated across the layer of new snow from the last storm (as opposed to the characteristic spring wet snow point releases). The largest was the previously reported one from Sheep. On the way out we saw a smaller slide farther south along the same ridge that looked like it broke on the new snow interface, both NE aspects.

We also saw a similar slide on a N/NW aspect of Mt Zimmer.

Hard to say from a distance when these broke, but the one on Mt Zimmer looked the most recent.

Region

Cooke City

Location (from list)

Mt. Zimmer

Observer Name

Amanda Kautzer