

A popular hill in the Lionhead area slid naturally yesterday (3-16-12). The slide ran on a layer of near surface facets about 3 feet above the ground. Two feet of snow equaling 2.5 inches of SWE has fallen over the past week. This load has pushed buried weak layers past their breaking point. Photo GNFAC

Advisory Region
Lionhead Range

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Sun Mar 18, 2012

